

Six docs vie for VIFF's first Impact Award

realscreen.com /2014/09/29/six-docs-vie-for-vancouver-festivals-first-impact-award/

September 29, 2014 by Etan Vlessing

Realscreen: The only international magazine devoted exclusively to the non-fiction film and television industries

September 29, 2014 by Etan Vlessing

Tweet

The Vancouver International Film Festival has shortlisted six films for its inaugural Impact Award for best documentary.

The six nominated films are Vic Sarin's The Boy From Geita, Julia Kwan's Everything Will Be, Grant Baldwin's Just Eat It: A Food Waste Story, Sturla Gunnarson's Monsoon, Harold Crooks' The Price We Pay and Scott Renyard's The Pristine Coast.

All six of the films, to screen at the Vancouver festival, will contend for the prize of CDN$5,000 in cash and $5,000 in marketing and in-kind services.

The winner will be announced at the BC Spotlight Gala on Oct. 4. VIFF runs to Oct. 10.

(From Playback Daily)

Tags: , , , , , ,

Related Articles